  - 5.1.3 cause or permit any use, display, assignment, transfer of possession, sublicensing, publication, distribution, sale, lease, rent, charging or other dealing with or encumbering of the Software, or other dissemination of the Software, in whole or in part, to or by any third party (and the Customer shall take all steps to prevent the Software being so used or dealt with by any third party);

- 5.2 Each restriction under this clause 5 shall be read and construed independently of the other restrictions. If any restriction is found to be void but would be valid and enforceable if some part of it were deleted, that restriction shall apply with such deletion as may be necessary to make it valid and enforceable.
- 5.3 The foregoing notwithstanding, the restrictions in this clause 5 shall not prevent the Customer, during the Term, insofar as the Territory is the United Kingdom, from doing the acts in relation to the Software as permitted under sections 50A, 50B, 50BA and 296A of the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988 or, insofar as the Territory is elsewhere in the European Union, from doing such acts in relation to the Software as are permitted under European Union or national legislation in the Territory which cannot be restricted by contract, or, in other cases, from doing such acts as permitted under mandatory applicable laws in the Territory and which mandate that a licensed user of software must not be restricted from doing such acts.

- 6.3 Where the Activation Key is supplied on an electronic device (a "Hardware Key"), the device shall be provided to the Customer on loan for the duration of the Term. The Supplier shall retain all title, rights and interests in the Hardware Key. Risk in relation to the Hardware Key shall pass to the Customer upon delivery and the Customer shall remain responsible for the device until its return to the Supplier.
- 6.4 The Customer shall keep the Activation Key and any Hardware Key secure throughout the Term and shall not lend it, transfer it or otherwise make it available to any third party. Promptly upon the termination or expiry of this Agreement, the Customer shall return the Hardware Key at the Customer's expense to the Supplier, or (where the Activation Key is delivered electronically) shall destroy or delete it.
- 6.5 In the event the Activation Key or the Hardware Key is damaged or if data on the Hardware Key becomes corrupt, at the Customer's request, the Supplier shall supply to the Customer a new Activation Key (on loan, where it is supplied on a Hardware Key), provided that the damaged Hardware Key is returned to the Supplier and (unless damage occurs due to a malfunction during the first 3 months after supply which is not due to the Customer's mishandling of the Hardware Key) that the cost of the replacement Hardware Key is paid to the Supplier in accordance with the Supplier's price list.
- 6.6 If the Customer requests a replacement of a Hardware Key and the Customer does not or cannot (for whatsoever reason, including loss, theft or the permanent destruction of the device) return the damaged or corrupted Hardware Key, the Supplier shall be entitled to charge the Customer an amount equal to the cost of a new Licence in consideration of the supply of a replacement Hardware Key.
- 6.7 The Customer acknowledges and understands that the charges contemplated by clauses 6.5 and 6.6 are reasonable and necessary to ensure the protection of Supplier's IP.

7. Maintenance and support

- 7.1 The Customer shall only be entitled to receive technical support in relation to the Software and to receive New Releases and Updates from the Supplier or its Reseller if it purchases such services from the Supplier or its Affiliate or Reseller under a Maintenance Agreement and subject to the full and prompt payment of the Licence Fees and any maintenance fees payable to the Supplier under the Maintenance Agreement and subject to the Customer's compliance with the terms of this Agreement and the Maintenance Agreement during the Term.
- 7.2 Notwithstanding anything to the contrary implied by the terms of the Maintenance Agreement (but subject to any terms that may be expressly agreed with the Customer) the Supplier shall not be obliged to support any versions of the Software except the then-current version and the latest version before the then-current version. ("Supported Versions"). New Releases and Updates and other maintenance services shall be provided (where the Customer is entitled to receive them) only in respect of Supported Versions.

- 8.4 All amounts payable under this Agreement shall be paid in full without any withholding or deduction on account of any taxes, duties, levies or charges, unless the Customer (or its relevant Affiliate) is required by law to make such deduction or withholding. If any such withholding or deduction is required, the Customer shall make the withholding or deduction as required by law and shall, when making the payment to which the withholding or deduction relates, pay to the Supplier such additional amount as will ensure that the Supplier receives the equivalent total amount that would have otherwise been received if no such withholding or deduction had been required.
- 8.5 Neither Party shall be entitled to assert any credit, set-off or counterclaim against any payment obligations (or part thereof) under this Agreement, except undisputed amounts due from the other Party to the paying Party, if such undisputed debts are due and payable by the due date of payment of the amount due under this Agreement.

- 9.7.4 terminate this Agreement immediately by notice in writing to the Customer and refund the Licence Fees paid by Customer as at the date of termination in respect of any period after the date of termination (excluding a portion of the Licence Fees in respect of the Customer's use of the Software up to the date of termination, calculated on the basis of one twenty-fifth of the Licence Fee for each year of use) on return to the Supplier of all copies of the Software held by the Customer (with the deletion or removal of any copies installed or saved on the Customer's equipment) and of all Activation Keys held by the Customer.
